

Governor Horner Comes to Defense of State NRA Bill As Business Leaders Fight

U. S. OFFICERS ARE SEARCHING FOR MACHADO

Former President Is Wanted By Cuban Authorities

New York, April 25.—(P)—Gerardo Machado, deposed president of Cuba, once known for his iron rule of the Island Republic, was made the object of an intensive search tonight by United States marshals, detectives and police.

The Herald-Tribune said it understood a warrant seeking his arrest in extradition proceedings brought by the Cuban government had been issued by United States Commissioner Garrett W. Cotter at the request of Robert E. Manley as counsel for the Cuban government.

Authorities who went to the apartment in East 91st street where Machado has been living for the past six months found him absent and servants said he had not been there for a week, departing early last Wednesday for an unannounced destination.

Dr. Orestes Ferrara, secretary of state in the Machado government, said he did not believe the former chief executive was in New York.

Not in U. S.

Other Cuban sources here privately voiced the opinion that Machado was out of the United States.

Last night in Havana the Cuban state department indicated its intention to seek the extradition of Machado and his former chief-of-staff on murder charges. Tonight Secretary of State Cossio De La Torre said he had been advised that New York police had issued an order for the provisional arrest of Machado.

Under regular extradition proceedings a warrant would be sought from federal authorities and after an arrest and hearing before a federal judge the United States department would pass on the entire case.

Havana authorities were skeptical whether the Washington government would honor a request for extradition as it might set a precedent which would affect political refugees from other countries now in the United States.

At Washington the state department was silent.

Both Machado and General Alberto Herrera, his former chief of staff, were charged in Cuba with being responsible for the deaths of 17 persons in a demonstration on August 7, 1933 in Havana after a false report that Machado had resigned.

Machado has lived quietly with members of his family and official retinue in the Bahamas, Canada and in his country since he fled Cuba in 1933. He has traveled extensively by automobile.

In Montreal in September, 1933, Machado said he was unwilling to return to Cuba immediately to face either civil or military trial. "What good is their guaranty of safety to myself if they cannot even protect themselves?" he asked in reference to such a guaranty which the Cuban secretary of war offered at that time.

WILL BRING SUITS

New York, April 25.—(P)—The trustees in bankruptcy of Paramount Public Corporation were directed today to bring suit in New York Supreme Court against eighteen directors and former directors of the company to recover $12,237,071.25.

The order came from Henry K. Davis, federal referee. The sum sought was spent, it was alleged, in the repurchase of Paramount stock which impaired the company's capital.

CLAIM CANNON HINDING BEHIND WOMAN'S SKIRTS

Case Against Bishop Will Probably Go To Jury Today

By Elton C. Fay
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, April 25.—(P)—Prosecution and defense attorneys alternately told a jury today that Bishop James C. Cannon, Jr., was hiding "behind a woman's skirts" and that the churchman and Ada L. Burroughs were being persecuted.

The case probably will go to the jury tomorrow.

In presenting the government's summary of evidence to substantiate its charges that the bishop and his former secretary conspired to violate the corrupt practices act, John J. Wilson, the prosecutor, said Cannon had spent for his personal use money that was contributed to the 1928 campaign against Alfred E. Smith.

"He talks to you about tin boxes and dead men and says time after time 'I don't recall,' Wilson said.

"He doesn't recall the things I ask him, but always recalled when his own counsel asked him."

In replying, M. J. Fulton, attorney for Miss Burroughs, said the government had not been able to produce "one thing against this little woman."

"The government is reaching its hand out and asking you to convict two people who are not criminal people, whose acts, whose lives deny, I might say, the charges made by the government."

Fulton said the government had failed to prove that there did not exist two committees to handle funds during the campaign, one of which was headed by Cannon and the other which the defense had contended spent money only in one state and was not required to report its expenditures.

Springfield, Ill., April 25.—(P)—Governor Horner came to the defense of the state NRA bill this afternoon while industrial and business leaders were expressing strong opposition to the measure at a house hearing.

The governor didn't participate in the oratory before the representatives but he explained in detail his support of the bill in a letter to George Young, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, which is in the forefront of the denouncing forces.

Backed by the state administration, the bill provides state cooperation with the federal recovery work headed by General Hugh S. Johnson. No action was taken on the bill at the conclusion of the hearing.

Mr. Horner found no reason to fear that the state NRA would handicap employers and did contend that it would make code enforcement easier.

NRA Works Well

"So far the NRA has worked well," the governor wrote. "Those few who are opposing it in a decided minority, the very industries which are now challenging its effectiveness are the ones which benefitted most from its provisions."

Chief spokesman for the opposition was David R. Clark, general counsel of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association, who said:

"You are called upon to adopt as the law of Illinois not merely the national industrial recovery act, but to adopt as the law of Illinois every restriction, prohibition and obligation that has been, or may hereafter be placed upon every little industry and every little business man in your district and in the state of Illinois."

"You are not only asked to enact this gigantic mass into the law of Illinois, but you are further asked to authorize the judicial forces of the state of Illinois to the president of the United States to be used as the instrument of enforcing this gigantic system of law against every little industry and every little business man or business woman and against every employee."

Since large firms dealing in interstate commerce are subject to federal regulation, Clarke said the purpose of the bill is to "crack down on the little fellow in industry and business in Illinois."

Other states which have adopted similar laws have felt no dire consequences, said John Casaday of Peoria, state NRA compliance director, who explained that the bill was drafted in Springfield from subject matter submitted from Washington.

Hope that state regulation would help establish order in the cleaning and dyeing industry was expressed by Max Krause of Chicago.

Those who agreed with Clarke in opposing the bill included Joseph K. Britten, Chicago association of commerce; J. C. Ames, Illinois hardware dealers; and Albert G. Weber, representing Decatur industries.

Representing the NRA, R. S. Beach of Washington, enumerated states which have cooperating acts.

In his lengthy letter, Mr. Horner said:

"I have full confidence in the leadership of President Roosevelt and so have a vast majority of the people of this state and nation. It is my sincere desire to follow his masterful guidance, his integrity and his genius of statecraft, and to that end I shall support the NRA and the recovery program which it provides incentives to meet the problem of the nation."

"That it has gone far in defeating the depression you must admit. An inventory of the good it has done, of the help to industry and agriculture it has accomplished, would give no credence to any claim that the experiment is a failure."

"It is still going to be a hard pull to normal conditions, with all of us pulling the same way. That way, I believe, is the way of the president and of congress. If a better method than he has already proposed is existent, no one has yet suggested it, x x x"

"He needs the cooperation and support of Illinois and all other states of the union and that is why I am helping his program with all the efforts I can command."

Arguing that the recovery program needs state help, the governor said the bill "does not increase the power to proceed against violators beyond what is now provided by the federal courts but merely provides additional tribunals in the state courts."

WASHINGTON IS SILENT ON JAP QUESTION

President Roosevelt And Cordell Hull In Conference

By the Associated Press

The strained international situation caused by Japan's pronouncement of a "Monroe doctrine" policy toward China was brought before President Roosevelt yesterday, but Washington remained silent.

It was one of the subjects for discussion between the chief executive and Secretary of State Hull.

What step, if any, the United States would take on the delicate question was awaited anxiously in London, Tokyo, Nanking and other capitals.

Great Britain's request for an amplification of Japan's statement was formally delivered in Tokyo.

Earlier, a spokesman for the Japanese foreign office said, "Our statement has been made. Let others read it as they will."

London made no commitments, pending a reply from Japan to its request. Newspapers viewed the development in the Orient as ominous.

Japan was accused by Chi Tsi-Hu, Chinese minister to Switzerland, of violating the nine-power treaty with regard to China's independence.

The Chinese consul general at Ottawa gave out an official comment from his government on the Japanese note which said, "Genuine and lasting peace between the two countries should be built upon foundations of good will and mutual understanding."

Comment was caused by information reaching Congress that Mr. Roosevelt would ask it for power to bring to force when to re-enforce the navy, bringing it up to treaty-limit strength.

Washington, April 25.—(P)—Japan's warning that foreign aid to China would be considered as endangering peace in the Far East has resulted in a series of informal conferences between Secretary Hull, Undersecretary Phillips and diplomatic representatives of a number of the countries signatory to the nine-power treaty.

President Roosevelt let it be known that he expected to confer with Hull on foreign affairs, including the Japanese manifesto.

Italian Ambassador Rosso, Chinese Minister Sze and Dutch Minister Dewit all called at the state department and conferred with either Hull or Phillips.

Rosso and Sze discussed the general Far Eastern situation with the state department officials, but the Dutch minister denied that his visit was a manifesto, although the Netherlands is a sign of the nine-power treaty and vitally interested in Far Eastern affairs because of the Dutch East Indies.

At the opening session the half a thousand publishers heard reports expressing qualified approval of the recent set-up for broadcasting of news bulletins and noting encouraging increases in advertising.

WOMEN DEPUTIES

Kansas City, Kansas, April 25.—(P)—One hundred and fifty women, members of the Women's Chamber of Commerce here, today were commissioned as deputy sheriffs of Wyandotte county. They will act in the capacity of law enforcement officers without pay.

WRONG SIZE

Boulder, April 25.—(P)—Thieves stole two tires off an auto trailer at the home of Mrs. Florence Butler here.

Today she found the missing tires in her driveway. There was a card tied to them. It said:

"Wrong size. Thanks anyhow."

Supreme Court Justices are Accused of Playing Politics By Senator W.E.C. Clifford

Zoo Monkey Is Chief Witness In Damage Suit

Oklahoma City, April 25.—(P)—Jerky, a Zoo monkey, hopped into the witness chair in a $5,000 damage case against the city today and tried obediently but vainly to poke a paw through a piece of wire netting.

The monkey is the star defendant in the case brought on behalf of 14-year-old Elizabeth Payne, who contends a monkey reached through the netting of its cage at the Lincoln Park Zoo last fall, seized her finger, drew it into the cage and bit it.

WILL PROTECT PRINCIPLES OF A FREE PRESS

Resolution Adopted By Publishers In New York

New York, April 25.—(P)—The American Newspaper Publishers Association unanimously adopted today a resolution urging its members to be "increasingly vigilant" to protect the principles of the freedom of the press from impairment.

The resolution—watched closely in view of the fight waged by an A. N. P. A. committee for a free press clause in the daily newspaper code—avoided criticism of the NRA or government officials.

Howard Davis, president of the association and chairman of its code committee, said the daily press had a "good code" under which to operate, one which is concise, clear and specific.

In his opening address, Davis, the business manager of the New York Herald-Tribune, said the constitutional guaranty of the freedom of the press remained unimpaired.

The resolution was introduced by the chairman of the freedom of the press committee, Col. Robert R. McCormick of the Chicago Tribune, who criticized the recovery administration in his argument for it.

The resolution read:

"Whereas, the unrestricted right to collect and disseminate information is essential to national recovery, international trade and peace between nations."

"Resolved, that the American Newspaper Publishers Association thank its officers and the members of the code committee for their foresight in recognizing the importance of the freedom of the press and their courage in maintaining it in a national emergency; for their tact and judgment in co-ordinating the interests of all daily newspapers; for bringing together for the first time in the history of American journalism all associations of daily newspaper publishers for expressing the American ideal of liberty which was above politics and political beliefs and for negotiating a code, which as approved by the president, maintains unimpaired this principle of a free government, and be it further:

"Resolved, that the members of this association be increasingly vigilant in their efforts to protect this principle from impairment from any source."

In the corridors of the convention hotel the resolution was frequently described as a "mild" one. It was said little censure of the administration was heard in the secret sessions of the convention.

Colonel McCormick, in discussing the framing and adoption of the newspaper code, said the frequent claimers of NRA officials as to interfering with a free press "were something confusing to me in view of a series of events which transpired concurrently with the disclaiming."

"First," the Chicago editor and publisher said, "an official of the department of labor threatened to prosecute the editor of the Tallahassee, Ala., Tribune if he should continue to publish editorial criticism of the NRA law, x x x"

"Secondly, General Johnson withdrew the press privileges from a Mr. True, a special correspondent in Washington, for publishing matter in his correspondence objectionable to General Johnson."

"Third, the withdrawal of the Blue Eagle from the Taylor, Murray, of Lynn, Massachusetts."

Murray, McCormick said, laid in a stock of goods anticipating increased buying. When the buying did not materialize, he put an advertisement in the local paper "saying that this was the end of another noble experiment, that he had stocked up in anticipation of conditions which did not materialize and was compelled to offer them at a sale."

At the opening session the half a thousand publishers heard reports expressing qualified approval of the recent set-up for broadcasting of news bulletins and noting encouraging increases in advertising.

FRANKLIN MAN IS INJURED IN TRAIN-AUTO CRASH

Burlington Train Hits Car Driven By Otis Leake Last Night

Otis Leake of Franklin was brought to Pasavant hospital at 7:45 o'clock last night, suffering from injuries received when the automobile in which he was riding was struck by the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad passenger gasoline car, at a grade crossing a few miles west of Franklin.

Leake had been working on his farm near Rees Station during the day and was returning home, when the accident happened.

The train No. 11, northbound, left Franklin at 6:37 p. m. It was in charge of Conductor Cortell and Engineer Martin. The engineer stopped the train after it struck the Leake car and the trainmen returned to the injured man.

The conductor offered to bring Leake to the hospital, but the injured man declined to have his physician, Dr. F. H. Metcalf, called. Dr. Metcalf reached the scene within a short time and had Leake removed to the Jacksonville hospital in the Neece ambulance. Leslie Leake accompanied his brother to the hospital.

Dr. Reginald Norris gave Leake surgical attention. It was found that he had suffered a deep cut on his head and other slight bruises and cuts.

X-ray examination will be made today.

The Leake car was badly damaged.

WILL PAY INTEREST

Springfield, Ill., April 25.—(P)—State Treasurer John C. Martin today announced that the scheduled payment of $4,180,000 will be made May 1 on principal and interest of highway bonds and that sufficient reserves are being set up to meet total payments of $12,922,525 for bonds and interest during the rest of the year.

PLOT TO HAMPER FLEET IN CANAL IS REVEALED

111 War Vessels Pass Thru In 48 Hour Period

Colon, C. Z., April 25.—(P)—As the United States navy fleet of 111 vessels completed its 48 hour transit through the Panama Canal today it was learned that war-like conditions obtaining during the movement were made necessary by fears that attempts might be made to interfere with the maneuver.

Authorities received information from the army intelligence service several months ago that a conspiracy seemed in progress to thwart the swift passage of the flotilla through the locks.

Consequently heavy guards of soldiers patrolled the locks during the transit and a smaller force will remain indefinitely, it was said, to replace guards stationed at the vital parts of the canal late in March.

Hitherto the locks have been without protection and any body has been able to approach them day or night.

Censorship was invoked as an extra precautionary measure.

Only one minor mishap occurred, however—the aircraft carrier Saratoga knocked down two concrete lamp posts at the Pedro Miguel locks.

Commander-in-chief David F. Sellers expressed himself pleased with the clock-like work of men and ships.

"The continuous transit of the canal by the fleet as a unit has been a very valuable experience for all hands and it is believed that very useful data has been obtained," he told the Associated Press.

First to go through the canal was the airplane carrier Lexington, which left Balboa at 5:11 A. M. Monday. The transport Melville, the last, cleared Gatun locks at 5 A. M. today.

Officers had hoped the movement could be completed in half that time, but a heavy rain contributed to the delay.

SENATOR NORRIS SAYS DEMOCRATS ARE JOBBUNTERS

Claims Their Action Might Defeat FDR For Re-Election

By Nathan Robertson
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, April 25.—(P)—Congress sent the bill guaranteeing home loan bonds to the White House today without the amendment which President Roosevelt had endorsed to outlaw laws in selecting home owners loan corporation employees.

An effort by Senator Norris (R-Nebr.) to save the amendment lost by a vote of 40 to 30. All republicans voted with him, but the democrats with five exceptions solidly opposed him despite his warning that their action "comes mighty near condemning Roosevelt."

The five democrats who voted with Norris were Logan, Kentucky; McCarran, Nevada; Pope, Idaho; Thomas, Utah, and Thompson, Nebraska.

The veteran Nebraska Senator stood in the center of the Senate chamber and called the democrats "jobhunters" instead of "statesmen" and predicted that their decision might result in the defeat of the president for re-election.

Senator Neely (D-W. Va.) replying to Norris, said he "overlooks the fact that by the greatest majority in the history of the republic the people have issued a mandate that government affairs should be administered by the party now in power."

He said he would "acquit" Norris of "any political hypocrisy or skulduggery," but asserted the republicans had "voted your politics 100 per cent" in opposing the amendment.

Norris asked the Senate to send the report back to conference, saying his amendment was "to the best interests of the government and the tax payers."

The Nebraskan said "the voice of Roosevelt" was crying for the amendment, but his voice was calling on "democratic ears deaf to his appeals."

"You and your party," he told the democrats, "are going to rue the day you took such action. You are going to find your president, when he is re-elected, is going to meet the objection that his party has taken advantage of the poor to build a political machine. It may be decisive, if it is a close election."

Neely chided republicans who had criticized Norris in the past for voting solidly behind him on the amendment to bar politics. He said Senator Hastings (R-De) and the others had "forgotten what a dangerous radical" Norris was.

The West Virginian ironically referred to Hastings, Fess (R-Ohio) and Reed (R-Pa.) as "non-partisan republicans," and defended the patronage system.

OPERATING INCOME

New York, April 25.—(P)—The New York Central railroad reports net operating income in March of $4,391,085 contrasted with $961,083 in the same month a year ago, an increase of $3,429,995.

Kidnapings and Robberies Are Reported as Officers Search For John Dillinger

LABOR TROUBLE IS THREATENING U. S. INDUSTRIES

More Auto Workers Have Abandoned Their Jobs

By the Associated Press

The nation's crime map, already splashed with crimson by the exploits of John Dillinger and his desperado pals, was dotted anew yesterday by kidnaping and robberies in many states.

The robbery of a farmer near Elk River, Minn., by four men and two women, heavily armed, and the hold-up of a bank at Akron, Ohio, by two bandits were believed by authorities to have had possible Dillinger connections.

The Elk River raid was staged on the farm home of Frank Oberg, with a small amount of money the only loot. As some of the Dillinger fugitives were believed to have escaped to that vicinity, county and federal officers rushed to the scene, but were unable to pick up the robbers' trail.

Rob Bank

Two clerks and two customers were kidnaped and about $4,000 obtained in the raid on the Mogadore Savings bank at Mogadore, a suburb of Akron. The captives were released about a mile and a half from the city. Although the robbery lacked the Dillinger finesse, one group of Dillinger gangsters was believed to have escaped to the vicinity.

Two messengers for the Fulton (Atlanta) County Relief Administration were kidnaped and robbed of $400 by two men who jumped on the running board of their automobile and overpowered them. After a wide ride thru the city they were taken to a woods, where they were released and their car returned to them.

Officials of the Indiana state prison were searching for Herman Williams, 48, a negro life prisoner who walked away Tuesday night. He was the fifth to escape in four days.

At Washington, two more Senate bills to give the federal government additional power in dealing with criminals were approved by the House judiciary committee. They would make it a federal offense to rob a National bank or kill or assault a federal officer.

Chicago, April 25.—(P)—The troop of federal agents stalking John Dillinger through the middle west believed tonight that the outlaw could be only a few hours ahead.

With every law officer of the central states and thousands of private citizens watchful, the No. 1 desperado must before many hours show up and fight, his pursuers believed.

With the hunt in full cry, one of the federal officers made a determined prophecy, Melvin H. Purvis, chief of the Chicago office said: "We'll get him soon. There's more evidence than ever before."

Police squads in middle western cities ran down new "tips" that one or more members of the band had been sighted. It was unsafe for small time holdup men to operate, since the squads were expecting Dillinger and were armed to make it a decisive engagement.

The Twin Cities were alive with the aces of the federal governments detective bureau. Eager to notch their names for Dillinger, his lieutenant John Hamilton or George Nelson, the three most dangerous members of the band, a guard was thrown about Ramsey county jail in St. Paul to make sure that Dillinger did not attempt to "escape" his red-haired sweetie, Evelyn Frechette, at Madison, Wisconsin, three other girls whom the Dillinger band left behind were called into court, behind drawn shades, and charged with concealing the toy-gun bandit.

Developments during the day were:

St. Paul—Tipped that four men and two women had raided a home and seized a "fresh" car, police, deputies and federal men roared out in chase, but lost the trail.

Akron—Alert against the chances that Dillinger will make a desperate attempt to rescue three pals held in the Ohio state prison at Columbus, Akron police gave hot chase to two bandits who robbed a bank in Mogadore, a suburb.

Tommy Carroll, Dillinger henchman, was "seen" at St. Louis Park, Minneapolis suburb; John Hamilton, another, was "seen" at the Indianapolis airport. Scores of "tips" came to middlewestern police that crews of three to five men, armed, had been sighted in one city or another, usually traveling as is the Dillinger habit, with one or more women.

In Washington the House Judiciary Committee hastened to arm the federal government with new power to fight criminals. It approved laws by which robbing a national bank or assaulting or killing a federal officer would be federal offenses.

Unsuccessful in grabbing Dillinger himself, his pursuers were closing in on his funds, as well as his girl friends. A Racine, Wis., detective looted $3,000 in Dillinger loot in a Chicago bank. It was securities taken last November in a machine gun raid on the American Bank and Trust company.

One loud "boo" spurred the hunt. Citizens of Mercer, Wis., were circulating a petition asking that Purvis be dismissed for the failure of the federal men to seize Dillinger when he was cornered, last Sunday night, in a resort near there.

WILL ENLARGE OFFICE

Washington, April 25.—(P)—President Roosevelt has decided it is necessary to enlarge the white house executive office because of greatly increased business.

The president probably will ask for an appropriation to permit an extension this summer of the little white building on the west side of the white house grounds.

LABOR TROUBLE IS THREATENING U. S. INDUSTRIES

More Auto Workers Have Abandoned Their Jobs

By the Associated Press

Cleveland on a starvation gasoline diet and threatened with a taxicab strike. Birmingham steel workers quitting the furnaces. Chicago nurses walking out and in again. More automobile workers abandoning their jobs—these were manifestations of growing industrial unrest around the map yesterday.

Happier music was the tooting of whistles over the Alabama coal mines signaling the end of two weeks of idleness.

Miners and operators said they were in "complete accord," and the first hundreds returned to work of the 21,000 who had been on strike.

Over 100,000 8,000 strong served notice of a strike and 400 employees of the Republic Steel Company at East Thomas, Ala., packed up and went home, protesting they were denied the right of collective bargaining.

Disorders among several hundred pickets at East Thomas were quelled by the police.

Troubles among the Fisher Body and Chevrolet automobile workers spread to the Tarrytown, N. Y., plants where 700 men struck for union recognition and curtailment of production was announced by the management.

In Washington, however, General Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, spoke of the speedy settlement of the Fisher strikes, stating:

"The Fisher Body people have assured me they are willing to deal with representatives of their employees. I've been on it all day."

He indicated settlement was expected within 24 hours.

An agreement between railroad managers and employees over the wage question appeared possible last night when union chiefs extended for 24 hours the period for mediation. The mediation period would have terminated last midnight.

The national automobile labor board at Detroit said it was "in touch" with the employees' disputes at Kansas City, Atlanta, Janesville, Wis., Tarrytown and elsewhere, but there were no mediation conference scheduled. Strikes were continuing at St. Louis, Cleveland and Toledo automobile plants.

At Kansas City 900 automobile workers authorized their leaders to call a strike at Chevrolet and Fisher factories.

Cleveland began to take on the aspect of a city in the pre-motor age as its gasoline supply evaporated. Motorists swarmed to the few filling stations still operating independent of the general strike of attendants. More and more automobile drivers, however, were leaving their cars at home rather than risk being stranded without fuel.

Mayor Harry L. Davis called a conference of gasoline men and striking attendants to seek a truce, and answered the threat of a strike of cab drivers with the assertion that he would clear the street of cabs.

Half the 1,100 employees of the Chase Brass and Copper plant at Cleveland quit work and in a disturbance there two men were arrested and one injured.

A deadlock between officials and employees of the La Crosse (Wis.) rubber mills shut the plant and put 1,500 men out of work. A controversy over the right to bargain collectively was the source of the strike.

Thirty nurses protesting "the wages of peons" abandoned a Chicago hospital for a brief spell yesterday, but came back to their patients when the chief medical officer promised to consider their grievance. They said they were paid eight cents an hour.

The Eagle Foundry Company at East St. Louis, Ill., shut up shop after being picketed by 100 visitors from Belleville whose demonstration kept 35 employees from coming to work.

G. MARCONI IS SIXTY YEARS OLD

By Andree Berding
Associated Press Foreign Staff

Rome, April 25.—(P)—Guglielmo Marconi, "in the be of health" and "busy as can be," celebrated his 60th birthday today by receiving the wishes and plaudits of the world.

There were so many congratulatory messages from all parts of the globe that when he had finished reading some of them the wireless pioneer said he needed a rest and took the usual Roman siesta.

The Rev. Fr. Oreste Trinchieri of San Francisco, representing Mayor Angelo J. Rossi, conferred honorary citizenship of the American city upon Marconi.

The rest of the morning he spent quietly at the Academy of Italy, of which he is the president. Then he went home to his birthday dinner.

He revealed that "we are constantly plugging away at an ultra-short wave in my yacht at Genoa; it is too early to make an announcement at this time."

122,522 CONTRACTS FOR CORN-HOG PLAN SIGNED IN ILLINOIS

Urbana, Ill., April 25.—With final reports received from all but three of the 102 counties of the state, the total sign-up of Illinois farmers in the government's corn-hog production adjustment program has now reached a total of 122,522 contracts. It is announced by Dean Herbert W. Mumford of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois and chairman of the state advisory committee.

The total may go to 123,000 contracts when additional signers are reported in the final check-ups still to be received from Cook, Will and Clinton counties. It was said.

This does not represent the total number of farms that are under contract, because in some cases two or more farms are covered by one signature, it was explained. Farmers signing up have agreed to reduce their corn production 20 per cent and their hog farmings and marketings 25 per cent in 1934.

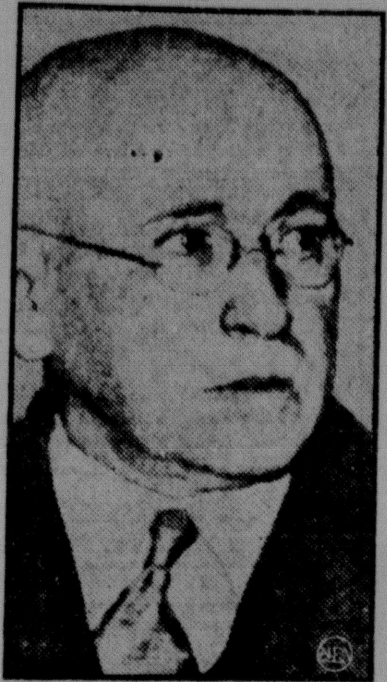

How soon the 30 million dollars or thereabouts in benefit payments will start coming to farmers who are reducing will depend upon how soon the contracts are submitted to Washington. Farmers, themselves, members of county allotment committees and other workers in the campaign are now putting the finishing corrections and alterations on the contracts, preparatory to sending them to Washington.

The first agreements to reach the Washington AAA offices for approval and issuance of benefit payments came from Marion county, Ia. It is expected that the peak of agreements will come during May. Machinery and personnel for approving the agreements and issuing the benefit payment checks are being organized. The checks are expected to be written within about two weeks after the agreements start through the contract records section for approval and payment. The maximum daily capacity is about 45,000 checks a day.

In Illinois, the heaviest reductions will be made and the largest benefits collected in 15 counties with 2,000 or more contracts signed up. Heading the list is McLean county with 3,561 contracts, and then follows Iroquois with 3,325; Livingston, 3,304; LaSalle, 3,242; Champaign, 3,141; Vermilion, 2,624; Bureau, 2,550; Shelby, 2,430; Henry, 2,425; Fulton, 2,225; Knox, 2,167; Macoupin, 2,161; Whiteside, 2,068; Sangamon, 2,050; Lee, 2,042.

Wonders of Science Reviewed at Chapel

Ralph B. Linville, instructor in Chemistry at Illinois College, discussed the role of science in modern lives at the regular Wednesday morning assembly.

One hundred years ago, a commencement speaker addressing the graduates of the Harvard class said that the students were going out into a complex world. The statement is just as apt today, said Mr. Linville, in proof of which he gave examples of modern developments. The horrors of modern warfare, the result of modern science, but the next generation will see as rapid advance as this generation has.

He cited the instance of the proposed flight into the stratosphere in which the flyers expect to prove that it is more feasible to fly a commercial plane in the stratosphere than in normal atmosphere. Stream lined automobiles have been ready for three years and waiting for a market; an all metal car which requires no painting has been perfected. Religion, philosophy and knowledge of the past are being catalyzed by the agent called science. We are now in the first major economic reversal which has come in a machine age. The problem of distribution is left to the student of social science and philosophy.

By-products have resulted from this catalyzing which the scientist has produced in the laboratory and taken out into the world. Mr. Linville pointed out specific instances to show that a scientific discovery could, at the same time, be a boon and a detriment to society. He challenged the young people to take an active part in supplying the motive for the scientist.

Previous to the discussion of the morning, William Pearce Smith sang "Sylvia" and "The Road to Mandalay" accompanied by M. McGehee.

The African Secretary bird gets its name from the curious crest it wears, resembling a secretary with quills behind his ears.

Jerseyville, Ill., April 25.—With an average nightly attendance of 180 persons, Rev. Jesse Henderson, of Moweaqua, Ill., this week completed a two week's revival at the Jerseyville Baptist Church, assisted by Rev. W. A. Steinkraus, pastor.

During the period the revival was in progress, sixteen people united with the church, making a total of thirty-two new members added to the congregation during the month of April. Ten others have been received since January 1st, 1934 and eighty-seven new members in all have affiliated with the church during the pastorate of Rev. Steinkraus.

An invitation was extended to Rev. Henderson to return to Jerseyville to conduct services on Sunday evening, May 6th, at which time a reception will be held in honor of the new members of the church and this added interest in the advent of the revival and aided in making it a success.

Prior to the two weeks services just ended, the congregation, working with Rev. Steinkraus, conducted a personal revival, interviewing prospective members of the church and this added interest in the advent of the revival and aided in making it a success.

Escapes at Vandavia
Word was received by Sheriff B. L. McDow Monday that Fritz Becker, aged 19 years, who was sentenced to the State Farm at Vandavia from the Jersey County Court last week, had escaped from the farm.

Becker and three companions, Jas. O'Leary, Jack Groves and Reuben Thompson were taken to Vandavia on Wednesday, April 18th, to serve sentences which varied from six to nine months. The four had entered pleas here to charged of petit larceny in connection with the robbery at the Giers Filling Station in Jerseyville on the night of April 3rd.

According to information received by officers here Becker and two other prisoners were working on the grounds at the Vandavia Farm Saturday when the former succeeded in escaping from the place. His disappearance was not discovered for about three hours.

Chicago Cubs Make it Seven Straight by Taking Second Contest From Redlegs 6-1

Chicago, April 25.—(AP)—Charlie Grimm's surprising Cubs are still thousand per-centers—undefeated.

Their seventh straight victory in the National league pennant chase was struck up today as they became opponents in a comedy of errors and slugged down the unfortunate Cincinnati Reds by the decisive margin of 6 to 1 behind a six-hit pitching performance by their former bad boy, big Pat Malone.

Today's victory, the fifth straight over the crew that once had a habit of blasting Cub pennant hopes, not only gave the Cubs a full game lead over the idle New York Giants but established a record for consecutive games without the assistance of a substitute. Only 12 players, eight regulars and pitchers Lonnie Warneke,

YANKS TROUCE ATHLETICS 3 TO 2

New York, April 25.—(AP)—Behind the smart pitching of bespectacled Fanny MacFayden, the New York Yankees today took their second straight game from the Philadelphia Athletics, 3 to 2.

MacFayden gave the Mackmen only eight scattered hits, two of which came in the ninth inning.

Alton Benton, rookie right-hander up from Oklahoma City, pitched well enough to win most games, but one streak of wildness in the fourth inning proved costly. He walked Combs, Ruth and Gehrig in succession to fill the bases. A forced out sent Combs home with one run and then Lazzeri crashed through with a single to score the Babe.

What proved to be the winning run was scored in the eighth inning off Bob Kline, another pass to Ruth and a pair of singles by Gehrig and Chapman producing the tally.

KELLY-AULD

Illinois College got over the second hurdle of its Little 19 campaign yesterday at Monmouth, and showed the Scots they have lost none of their punching ability.

Coach Nussipickel wasn't very enthusiastic about his team's chances before the game because of a number of injuries, but the boys made up for their defensive slowness with a lot of chugging.

White Hall, one of the original entries in the Illinois Valley baseball league, notified president Father Philip Newman yesterday that they were unable to secure the proper backing for the season, and were dropping out. Carrollton and Mercadet were extended an invitation to get in, and it is probable that one of these two teams will be the eighth member of the league.

Routt high has booked a double header with Quincy Academy for this Saturday afternoon. Routt's excellent showing at Bloomington last Sunday encouraged Coach Wallace Baptist, and with John Pacotti and Joe Tapocik to do the flinging, the Routt mentor believes he will be able to salt away both games.

CAVALCADE WINS FEATURE EVENT

By Orin Robertson
Associated Press Sports Writer
New York, April 25.—(AP)—With a smashing record-equalling performance, Mrs. Dodge Sloane's Cavalcade, highly regarded eastern candidate for the Kentucky derby, justified his short odds in the future books today when he soundly whipped six other eligibles in the Shenandoah purse at Havre De Grace, Md.

Starting his three-year-old campaign after a successful juvenile career, Cavalcade sped around the mile and 70 yards in 1:41 4/5 to equal the track mark hung up by Osculator in 1932. At the finish he was breezing two lengths in front of Mrs. Frank J. Heller's Agraria, second in the Florida derby. Another four lengths to the rest followed C. V. Whitney's filly Baby.

Cavalcade looked like a champion under the guidance of "Uncle" Mack Garner.

The victory of S. W. Labrot's Stainforth, a rank outsider, in the Aberdeen purse was only of secondary interest.

Stainforth defeated 14 other two-year-olds to pay his few backers $145.60 for $2 and his owner $11,600.

The son of Happy Time finished the four and one-half furlong race in front of Mrs. Sloane's Cavalcade, ridden by Mack Garner. Far back in third position was Mrs. Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Try Sympathy.

Gentle Knight, Marshall Field's derby candidate, won his second straight race at Jamaica in accounting for the Briarwood purse over six furlongs.

DERBY FAVORITES HAVE WORK OUT

Louisville, Ky., April 25.—(AP)—Diva Farm's crack filly, Mata Hari, divided the pre-Derby spotlight today with J. E. Widener's Peace Chance, with the honors, if any, going to the eastern colt.

Mata Hari appeared at the crack of dawn to battle off three quarters in 1:13 2/5.

Hours later Peace Chance was galloped once around the track and then broke at the stand.

At reaching three quarters in 1:13 1/5, he began to tire slightly. He finished out a handy mile in 1:39 4/5.

Naval Cadet, St. Andrew Farm candidate, continued to train well and did not show any foreleg soreness that recently appeared threatening.

Other workouts included J. W. Parrish's Howard doing a mile in 1:42 1/5, and New Deal a mile in 1:42 3/5, both driving; A. L. Ferguson's dark horse, Vitamin B, doing five-eighths in 1:01 flat in barrier schooling; A. O. Bianchi's War Pledge doing the full Derby route in 2:15 2/5.

Collegians Unleash 15 Run Attack in First 3 Innings to Cop Second League Game

Monmouth, April 25.—(Special)—Unleashing a 15 run attack in the first three innings, Illinois College today won their second Little 19 conference game of the season from Monmouth by a 17 to 9 score. Illinois drove Tinker off the mound in two innings and disposed of another hurler before Joe Meyer held them in check until the ninth frame.

"Long John" Brannan, who worked for the Blueboys, featured their hitting attack with a triple, and pitched good ball until the sixth inning when his game leg began interfering too much, and he was removed in favor of Cliff Ameidi. Brannan kept Monmouth from doing anything serious until the sixth when they scored five runs.

Fourteen Illinois batters went to the plate in the first inning, manufacturing eight hits, and scoring nine runs before Monmouth was able to retire the side. There was only one pass issued in the first frame, Brannan's triple clearing the bases, before the second round of hitting began.

Eleven Blueboys went to the hitting rubber in the third frame when they uncorked a six run rally on four hits and three walks. Illinois used every combination of a steal known to the team in piling up their big lead, with the exception of stealing home.

Monmouth was unable to get underway until the third when Reed tripled and scored on Wolf's single. Nuding's homer in the fourth gave them another run. Ameidi had two down in the ninth inning, after Jimmy Winn had made a double play unassisted at first, before he weakened and permitted three consecutive blows which scored another run.

Blond Les Stofen is an artist at the game of tennis—and he has the artistic temperament, too. ### Public Library Notes

The first year of an experiment in county wide library service in Putnam county, Illinois, has demonstrated that books are more popular among readers of the county than they were among Chicagoans and New Yorkers a year ago, according to a report received by Miss Ryan of the Jacksonville Public Library, from Miss Anna May Price, superintendent of the Library Extension Division of the State Library and president of the Illinois Library association.

Books borrowed for home use averaged five per capita, while those borrowed in Chicago and New York averaged somewhat more than four per capita.

Children have been the principal reading in two mining districts in the county which contain the chief foreign population. Among these readers "Tom Sawyer" and "Little Women," "Heidi," and "Pinnocchio" have been as popular as among native American readers.

Every rural school in the county has had a fresh supply of books once a month during the year, and eight village agencies have had a new supply once in four months. Pupils use the school collection constantly, according to the teachers.

Educators and librarians agree that for most sections of the United States county or regional libraries well supported and administered provide the best means yet devised for supplying small rural and village schools with needed library service. County libraries in Indiana, Ohio, California and some other states have demonstrated that they can provide a maximum amount of service at a minimum of expense. County or regional library service is also advocated by librarians and rural leaders as the best means of providing rural adults with books.

Almost two million people in Illinois chiefly rural readers—are still without free access to public libraries. Ten counties in the state have no public library within their borders.

Former Governor Lowden is among the advocates of county libraries to provide books for these rural readers. A resident librarian, Harriet Lane, formerly librarian at Freeport and the Great Lakes Naval Training station, has been in charge of the Putnam county experiment under civil service works. Books are being supplied by the state Library Extension division. A local resident acts as custodian of each of the village agencies, and the old visitor of the Library Extension division spends a week in the county each month, visiting each library, and super-ising the work.

Jerseyville K. of C. Communion April 29

Jerseyville, Ap. 1 20.—The Jerseyville Council Knights of Columbus has designated Sunday, April 29th, as the annual communion Sunday for the Knights of Columbus of this city, and all the members of the local council are being urged to take part in the event.

Aside from the fact that it will be Communion Day, it will also be Gues Day, and each member has been requested to extend an invitation to a friend to accompany him to the eight o'clock Mass at the Church of the Holy Ghost and receive Holy Communion in a body. The group will assemble in the Knights of Columbus club rooms at seven-thirty o'clock.

Following the Mass a stag buffet breakfast will be served in the club rooms. The Guest Day idea was presented by the Supreme Council in an effort to place the Order before the Catholic laymen.

Jersey County Bo. Killed by Brother

Jerseyville, Ill., April 25—Earl James Rollings, aged 6 years, of near Grafton, is dead today after being run over by a truck driven by his brother, Wayne, aged 12 years.

The younger child was playing in the driveway at the Rollings' and Wayne was driving his father's truck into the yard. The older child said he did not see his younger brother and the truck ran over him, apparently killing him instantly. The accident occurred about 3:45 p.m. Tuesday.

The children are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Rollings of near Grafton. Coroner William E. Hopper of Jerseyville conducted an inquest and the verdict was that the child was killed when run over by the truck. The jury held the accident was unavoidable. The child sustained a fractured skull.

In England there are about 18,000 accidental deaths a year. About 6000 of these occur on highways and the rest in industry.

A CERTIFIED INTERVIEW WITH HELL-DRIVER BILLY ARNOLD

"It took more than Luck to save my Life—it took a Safety-Steel Body"

IT HAPPENED on the Bakersfield highway, Billy Arnold was making time for Los Angeles. Road clear... rising curve ahead. Suddenly... but let him tell it in his own words:

"Suddenly another car swept 'round the curve... coming right at me... on the wrong side. I had my choice. A head-on crash... or the gully on the right. I took the gully."

"I wouldn't give a plugged nickel," says Arnold, "for my chances in any low-priced car but a Plymouth. Its Safety-Steel Body was undoubtedly the thing that saved my life."

2 "There's where it happened. The diagram shows how my Plymouth snatched the side, bounced up in the air and rolled over five times!"

3 "I couldn't avoid it. I had only a split second to see what was happening. The other car was in my path. I swerved to save him. Down I plunged... turning over and over!"

4 "Other hell-drivers like Harry Hartz marveled that I came through it all unhurt. They thought I was kidding when I told them how I tried the motor, found it worked and drove on."

Huey Long Gets Big Blow From Election

Baton Rouge, La., April 25.—(P)—Jared Y. Sanders, Jr., named to succeed the late Representative Bolivar E. Kemp in Congress, described today his election as "a body blow to Huey P. Long."

As late returns from yesterday's Democratic run-off primary were being counted, Sanders said the election "is a rebuke to the effort of the machine politicians to corrupt" the district.

Victory in the primary is tantamount to election. On the basis of incomplete returns, Sanders received 17,686 votes to 15,306 for Harry D. Wilson. Throughout the campaign Sanders accused Wilson of being backed by Senator Long, but Wilson denied this and asserted his independence.

The voting ended a factional flare-up over district control of Long political organization. The revolt came into the open several times since the death of Representative Kemp last June.

Two irregular elections were held resulting in the naming of both Sanders and Kemp's widow. In Washington, however, claims of both were denied and another election was called.

Frank Humphrey, 31, a farmer, was shot and killed during a disturbance at a booth while voting was in progress. T. W. Thompson, 35, an election commissioner for Sanders, was charged with manslaughter in connection with the slaying.

Reports to the sheriff's office said that Humphrey, allegedly intoxicated, drew a knife on Thompson and that Thompson took a pistol from his pocket and fired. Thompson surrendered to the sheriff and was released under $1,000 bond.

Governor Faces Plot Charges

Charged with exacting political contributions from persons forced to ask for federal relief work, Gov. William Langer of North Dakota, indicted on a conspiracy charge with eight of his aides, is shown here as he left the Fargo federal building, after pleading not guilty on his arraignment.

Concern Felt About Sam Insull's Health

Associated Press Foreign Staff S. S. Exilona, at Casablanca, Morocco, April 25.—(P)—Recurrence of an old ailment—heart trouble—caused concern today for the welfare of the Evlon's famous captive passenger, Samuel Insull.

He suffered a slight heart attack last night as he puffed at a big black cigar and chatted with fellow passengers in the ship's salon.

The 74-year-old Chicagoan's face went white; his expression was one of great pain. Before a word was said, however, he arose and hastily left the room.

"Too much smoking," he said on his return a few minutes later. Insull has planned to cut down on his smoking today.

Aside from that, he apparently took no notice of the slight attack, but others were concerned for his health.

It was partially because of his weak heart that Insull was able to obtain extension after extension of his police residence permit to remain in Greece, remaining in Athens for months after the original order for his expulsion.

Some thought last night's attack might have been brought on in part by the rough seas encountered early Tuesday enroute along the African coast of Casablanca.

Insull supplied a humorous interlude late yesterday when he fled from Spanish photographers.

"I must protect home industries," he said. "These fellows want to rush pictures away by airplane to beat the American photographers who 'took me at Catania. They're trying to snap my picture without my consent. I've had enough."

RUNS GOOD RACE

Epsom Downs, Eng., April 25.—(P)—A. C. Bostwick's Mate 6-year-old Mate, rounding into condition for the classic Ascot gold cup, the race for which he crossed the Atlantic, today ran his best race on English turf in finishing third in the 81st renewal of the city and suburban stakes, one of the big spring handicaps.

Carrying the heavy weight of 130 pounds, Mate, winner of nearly $300,000 in five years of racing, finished the one and one quarter miles five lengths back of the lightly weighed Light Sussex from Major C. Behren's stable. M. I. Simmon's play on Split the pair, finishing two lengths behind the winner.

JACKSONVILLE 109 YEARS OLD TODAY

Looking back with justifiable pride for one hundred and nine years, we may feel interested in reviewing history of our beautiful and noteworthy city, else we may forget many of her deeds and those of her sons and daughters for even in her infancy she was a most enterprising child of our great state.

Jacksonville was born just seven years after Illinois was admitted to the Union as a state and only two years after Morgan county was created by the legislature. Naples was much distressed when Jacksonville was selected for the capitol of Morgan county, as Naples had coveted that honor for herself, though now in Scott county. Naples was then in Morgan county, as Scott county was at that time a part of Morgan county.

Jacksonville has the proud honor of being the county seat of one of Illinois' wealthiest and most fertile counties. First attracted by the fertile soil her citizens, later were lured by her beauty as a home city and by the exceptional educational advantages she offered.

During the summer, 1825 and 1826, building progressed rapidly and settlers increased in number and with them came greater comforts and improvements in living conditions. By the fall of 1826, Jacksonville had a mail from St. Louis via Alton and Carrollton once in two weeks, and also a mail from Springfield weekly.

To mention the noble heroes and fine pioneers who came to Jacksonville her refined and intellectual character, we would fill a volume of many pages, even though we omitted the prominent, even national figures of our day, who Jacksonville delights to call her own.

In 1860 Jacksonville was still a village of only 5,528, but today she is called a city, with more than 17,000, and is the home of three colleges, three state institutions, several factories and plants. Jacksonville is loved and cherished by all her citizens as an ideal place to live, and it has a charm for those who have at some time left her hospitable confines and sooner or later a magnet she draws them back to enjoy life in "Cassidy Jacksonville," surrounded by churches, schools and refined influence where in Jacksonville we stand in the presence of fine citizens and worthy dead, statesmen, educators, governors, enjoy the blessing these mighty men have given to us of today.

The founding of Jacksonville 109 years ago today will be marked at the meeting of the Morgan County Historical Society tomorrow night.

DILLINGER HUNTERS "CAN'T CARRY GUNS" BUT THEY DO ANYWAY

Washington, April 25.—(P)—The Justice Department's Dillinger chasers have no more legal right to carry firearms than ordinary citizens—but they do.

Not only are they fully armed, but Attorney General Cummings seeks an increase in their forces.

The perplexing legal twist whereby the agents are not authorized to bear arms, nor even to make arrest, has come to the personal attention of the attorney general.

Asked at luncheon about this apparent flaw in the law, he jabbed at a piece of lunch-counter pie and asserted:

"You may say that the Department of Justice would like to have this matter cleared up."

Until it has been fixed, the Bureau of Investigation agents pursuing the Indiana bad man and others of his ilk are armed—and are given a complete course in marksmanship.

There are now a few more than 400 special agents, including accountants, and an attorney general seeks to increase their number by 200.

The House Judiciary Committee was called back into session today to approve more bills, giving the increased anti-crime power to the government.

Two new government weapons to be used against crime have been approved by the committee, and more are expected soon, with five bills awaiting action.

NEW YORK MAN KILLS WIFE AND DAUGHTER. THEN TAKES OWN LIFE

Rome, N. Y., April 25.—(P)—Authorities were at a loss today to establish a motive for the brutal slayings of a 19-year-old girl by her father, the probable fatal wounding of his wife and his subsequent suicide by hanging.

When Nicholas and Joseph Ross came home from work yesterday afternoon they found their mother, Mary Ross, 64, unconscious on the kitchen floor and their father, Joseph, 68, hanging in the hallway from a rope attached to the stair railing.

Soon after police arrived the body of Beatrice Ross was found in her bed upstairs. Both women apparently had been attacked while asleep. Both were in their night clothing and the mother apparently had fled to the kitchen in an attempt to escape.

The slayings used to batter the heads of the victims was found in the kitchen.

Mrs. Ross' condition is critical. She has a fracture at the base of the skull.

OIL ON PROPERTY MAY BE AID TO M'KENDREE

Mt. Carmel, Ill., April 25.—(P)—McKendree College, located at Lebanon, Ill., which was dropped from the accredited list of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools because of its financial condition may soon be in a position to apply for reinstatement.

J. M. Mitchell, of Mt. Carmel, treasurer for the college said today he had received a letter from California stating that a 5,000 barrel oil well had been drilled on a tract of land adjoining property owned by the college and that the oil company had offered the school $24,000 for a lease on the land for oil development.

Mrs. Mitchell said the offer is being considered.

Marketing Pacts to Fall Under AAA Act

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

Washington, April 25.—(P)—Extension of the licensing provisions of the agricultural adjustment act to make them apply to all marketing agreements will be sought by the administration at this session of Congress. This was disclosed today as Senate Democratic leaders announced an ambitious legislative program for the remainder of the session. Observers felt that followed it would toll the knell in any early adjournment.

The entire Congress, however, was far from abandoning all hope for a quick get-away. Predictions ranged from May 20 into the months of high temperatures here.

Speaker Rainey stood fast today by his May 20 prediction. He listed only the stock market control bill, anti-crime legislation and extension of the temporary bank deposit guarantee as the only "must" measures.

Robinson of Arkansas, the Senate's Democratic leader, after a session with his steering and policy committee, put out a list like this:

Reciprocal tariff, stock market regulation, corporation and municipal bankruptcy relief, communications commission, amendments to the A. A. A. act, pure food and drugs regulation, loans to private industry, RFC import and export financing, and the Wagner labor board bill.

BREAK JAIL

Bowling Green, Mo., April 25.—(P)—Another woman sheriff's guest list is depleted today.

Four prisoners at the Pike county jail escaped last night after sawing a bar out of a window.

Lawrence Smith of Louisiana, sentenced for burglary; Joe Shannon, Jr., held for questioning about recent burglaries, and two negroes make up the missing quartet.

Mrs. Robert Smith has been serving as sheriff since the death of her husband last March.

HELEN JACOBS SEES VICTORY

By Bill King

Associated Press Sports Writer.

Melrose, Mass., April 25.—(P)—A campaign on four international tennis fronts without a defeat, a typical Helen Wills Moody grand slam, is the 1934 ambition of that other famous "California" net star, Helen Jacobs, the national women's champion and captain of this year's Wheatman Cup team.

"It's going to be a terrific job with all of these brilliant young players springing up overnight, but I hope to be able not only lead the Wheatman Cup team to its fourth straight victory over the British but also win the British, French and Italian titles and, as a climax, gain my third straight national championship at Forest Hills," she said today before leaving for New York.

Miss Jacobs, who spent the winter here with friends, dividing her time between her literary work and tennis, plans to sail for Italy on April 28.

With Mrs. Moody out of competition this year, Miss Jacobs appears to have an even road to the British title. A year ago she dropped out in the Wimbledon semi-final round, beaten in three sets by Dorothy Round. Since then she has more than evened her score with that British girl.

"I TAKE THIS WOMAN" By Allene Corliss

CHAPTER ONE

Stanley awakened with a feeling of excitement. For a moment she stared with sleep-blurred eyes at a splash of glazed chintz against an apricot tinted wall, at an oblong of golden sunlight sprawled across a dull green carpet. Then, as consciousness came, she remembered back to her, she sat up in bed and flung her arms about her slim knees.

She knew now why she felt excited. For the first time in three years, she was waking up in New York. For the first time in three years she was free to do exactly as she pleased. It suddenly seemed a bit overwhelming. Even frightening. It implied so much. This apartment, for instance. She had sublet it from Alita Lawson. She thought, with a quick little flicker of amusement, that if Alita had used as good taste in choosing a husband, as she had obviously used in furnishing an apartment, she would not now be on her way to Paris in pursuit of a high-pressure divorce.

It was a charming apartment. There was something gay and intimate and sort of consoling about it. Stanley already felt at home in it. Relaxed. As she had never felt during the three years she had lived in one hotel after another, on the Continent.

But all that was over now. Quite definitely over. Stanley had suddenly decided to come home. After three years of passive non-resistance, she had without the slightest warning rebelled. Thinking about it this morning, sitting up quite straight in Alita's slim posited mahogany bed, Stanley decided that she had simply reached a point where further inaction to ennui was impossible. So she had left her Aunt Julie playing very bad contract on the Riviera and come back to New York. She wondered now why she had not done it before, why she had been content to drift so long in an environment that was not only unattractive to her, but actually distasteful. She decided that her father's sudden death and her aunt's deceiving protectiveness had undoubtedly been the reason. She was glad it was over. That she was back in New York. That it was early April and that she was young and lovely looking and quite free to do as she pleased.

As soon as she called a few people on the telephone, things would begin to happen to her. Pleasant things. Gay, careless, inconsequential things. The sort of things that hadn't happened to her during all the precious time she had been away.

She reached for the telephone, called it against her chin, smiled reflectively into the mirror that hung on the apricot tinted wall opposite her. Clever of Alita to have a mirror just there. It was enlightening to see exactly how you looked the first thing in the morning, before you had time to do anything about it.

Stanley frowned at herself critically. Nice hair, deeply, warmly brown, just brushing her shoulders. Nice skin, smooth and fragrant looking. A young, ardent mouth. Chin, a bit defensive, but not too much so. Gray eyes, very direct and unafraid, but a bit inquiring. The frown changed to a smile; she dismissed what she saw with a shrug. Five, ten years from now she would have to begin worrying but now she was quite lovely. She accepted this loveliness with an almost even mixture of casualness and gratitude. She was casual about it as all people are casual about familiar possessions; but she was grateful for it too—especially in moments like this when life seemed to be pressing close about her, demanding things of her, promising things to her.

She balanced the telephone against her knees, lifted the receiver from its enameled hook. Her voice when she gave the number was eagerly imperative. It would be nice to see Perry again—dance with him. In the moment before his voice came to her, clipped and lazily caressing, she visualized him perfectly. Tall, delightfully blond, altogether attractive. She had been half in love with Perry three years before—she wondered if she would be again. The possibility that she might make this moment before they actually spoke to each other exciting and important.

Stanley wasn't at all sure yet that she wanted Perry, but she was sure that she wanted a chance to make up her mind about it.

Perry didn't get her voice at once. It had been a long time since he had heard it. When he did he was pleasantly stirred. He remembered her perfectly. She had come out the same year that he had finished law school and gone into his father's office. He had given her a terrible rush. She had been his first serious love. She had been, in fact, his only serious love. He remembered how beautifully they had danced together and how violently he had made love to her. Then her father had died suddenly and an aunt had rushed her off to Europe. He had tried to get her to marry him but she had been very young and not nearly so much in love as he.

All these things went through Perry's mind as he exchanged pleasant and flattering banalities with her over the wire. He reached for an engagement book, drew a line through an appointment with his tailor and made an engagement with her for that afternoon. Beyond that he would not commit himself. If she was still beautiful and willing and unattached, he would probably fall in love with her again. But he had had a hard time getting over her once and he did not intend to repeat the experiment if he could help it. She had sounded all those things—beautiful and willing and unattached—but you never could tell—over a telephone anything was possible. Nevertheless, it was with a certain vaguely familiar eagerness that he rang her bell that afternoon. He remembered the stout, pleasant looking woman who admitted him. Her name was Ellen and she had once been Stanley's nurse. She had been kind to him during the months that he had been so violently in love with Stanley. He had always felt that she liked him. He shook hands with her now, gave her the full benefit of his lazy, blue-eyed smile.

Stanley came to meet him, halfway across the dim, fragrant drawing room. She was wearing a dull blue gown that clung closely to her slim breasts and hips. His first impression of her was that she was much taller than he remembered, and that her figure was much more exciting.

"You look so awfully grown-up," he told her, frowning at her slightly, "you do" together. "It's this dress, Perry, the long skirt, you know." "Of course," he grinned comprehensively. "It makes you rather more lovely, darlin', though I can't help regretting the loss of your legs. You had lovely legs, Stanley." "I still have," she assured him gravely, "only they've ceased to be an asset."

Across the tea table and behind a screen of light, pleasant conversation they took stock of each other. Stanley discovered that he really was just as blond and blue-eyed and completely likeable as she had remembered him. She decided that very likely she would see a great deal of him and that she might quite possibly get very much interested in him again. She wondered if he was uninvolved at the present time; she decided that he quite probably was or he would not have come to see her so soon. Having arrived at this conclusion, she knew she was immensely relieved that this was so. She wasn't at all sure yet that she wanted Perry, but she was sure that she wanted a chance to make up her mind about him.

Perry, by the time she had poured him a second cocktail and rung for more anchovy sandwiches, knew quite definitely that if he continued to see her, he would surely fall in love with her all over again. Knew in fact that he had really never stopped being in love with her. Decided that explained why he had passed in and out of so many casual affairs since. Nevertheless, he intended to take it easy. At twenty-nine one didn't toss his heart about as carelessly as one had at twenty-six. Stanley wasn't in love with him now, any more than she had been three years before. She might quite possibly never be. He would surely take it easy until he had some indication that something good would come of being otherwise.

New Liquor Ordinance Is Adopted; Provides For Sunday Beer Sale

Jacksonville's new liquor regulatory ordinance, under the process of adoption for several weeks, was officially placed on the books of the city last night at an adjourned meeting of the city council, providing that beer may be sold in the city Sundays, and that the closing hours for all places in which alcoholic liquors are sold will be 1 o'clock each morning. The council also adopted a resolution providing that the rate of pay for all workers hired as extra labor will be 50c an hour, submitted by the Jacksonville Common Laborers Union.

The new liquor regulatory ordinance was adopted with only one dissenting vote, that of Alderman Harlan Williamson, of the fourth ward. All members of the council were present and all voted on the ordinance. Adoption of the ordinance was speedily disposed of after the council, by a vote of 6-2, decided to permit the sale of beer only on Sundays. The two negative votes were cast by Aldermen Williamson and J. U. Day.

County commissioners today will draw up a resolution similar to the ordinance adopted by the city last night, to govern the sale of alcoholic liquors in the county, outside of the city limits of the various cities, towns and villages in the county. State's Attorney Wilfred Absher, representing the county government, outlined the county resolution as he understood the county commissioners wished it drawn, during the debate on the Sunday liquor problem, and said the county resolution will be a very closely with the ordinance.

Several restaurant owners were present at the meeting to urge the council to permit the sale of beer on Sunday. Thomas Cosgriff, Lohman Wagner and Roy Creed spoke in favor of the Sunday sale. None of the large crowd present in the council chamber asked that the sale of hard liquors be permitted. The restaurant men argued that by prohibiting the sale of beer, the council would tend to drive Sunday business out of the city, that they would hurt business on their big day of the week, and that in view of the county board's indication that they would permit the sale of beer on Sunday, would tend to injure their business still more, if the sale was prohibited in the city.

Promote Enforcement
Promising an iron clad enforcement of the county resolution, and expressing the desire of the county board to go along with the city in working out some plan for the regulation of the flow of liquor, the state's attorney said that the county commissioners planned to set a $25 license fee for beer places, and a $500 fee or higher for hard liquor places. No dancing, gambling or rough housing will be permitted in any of the licensed places, he declared, and there will be no warnings to license holders. The first time they step over the bounds of the resolution, their license will be revoked, and their bond declared forfeited and collected.

The city's new regulatory ordinance will become effective immediately after its publication, probably within the next day or two. The decision of the council to permit the sale of beer in the city Sundays returned the ordinance to the same position it was before it became necessary to adopt a new ordinance because of the state liquor regulations. Places licensed under all classes of license will be permitted to sell beer on Sunday, but only.

The council also decided to extend the hour of closing for all places from 12 o'clock midnight to one a. m. after Mr. Absher explained the intention of the county commissioners to set a one o'clock closing hour. Formerly, all places have been required to close at 12 o'clock, midnight, and in the case of restaurants, to stop the sale of beer at that time, until six o'clock the following morning.

Prohibit Dancing
A new clause, prohibiting dancing in connection with the sale of liquor, was added to the ordinance. The provision made was that no dancing was to be permitted in any room, adjacent room, or room under the control of the holder of the license.

License fees were cut in two instances as the aldermen waded through the ordinance. The license to sell beer was left at $50, and the license to sell both wine and beer, for consumption either on or off the premises, was left at $250. Aldermen excused the knife on the license for package sale, trimming the fee from $250 to $150, and also reduced the permit fee for clubs, formed prior to one year before the passage of the ordinance, from $200 to $100, and left the fee for clubs formed subsequent to one year before the passage of the ordinance at $400. The license for selling all kinds of liquors, for consumption either on or off the premises, was left at $500. A motion to set the license fee at a flat rate of $300 for all places selling liquor, was lost for the want of a second.

City governments are unable to license wholesale liquor sales, it was explained by City Attorney Orville Foreman, because of a state regulation. However, he added, if wholesalers sell to consumers, they are liable to fine for failing to acquire a license for retailing liquors.

The new ordinance also differs from the old in that it sets up the mayor or anyone appointed by him as the liquor control commission, as required by state law. The new ordinance retained the same restricted territory for Class D licenses, permitting the sale of all kinds of liquors, provides that licenses are not transferable from one person to another and only after payment of a $5 fee from one place to another. All applicants for license must have been a resident of the city for a period of at least one year prior to the passage of the ordinance. The mayor, as head of the liquor control commission, has the right to issue and deny licenses.

All complaints about the operation of licensed places, must be made to the commission in writing, the council provided in its ordinance. The complaints will be tried, with both the complainant and defendant having the right to subpoena witnesses for the hearing, which is to be conducted in public.

Drug Store Sales
Drug stores will be required to pay the license fee for package sales, as the result of the council's decision to knock out a clause in the proposed ordinance which provided a $25 license for prescription sales. Drug stores will be permitted to sell without prescriptions as the result of this action.

What constitutes unobstructed vision into places holding A, B, and D licenses provoked an argument, the council finally deciding to let the wording of the proposed ordinance stand when several suggested changes were laid aside either as undesirable or not feasible. No burmades may be employed in Class D licensed places, another clause provides. All liquors must bear the proper revenue stamps, and no peddling will be permitted.

Difficulty of getting the details worked out for changing from the former ordinance to the present will be presented when the holders of the present licenses take out new licenses. Each license will require a new bond. The council chamber was the host to two large crowds during the evening, a large number of the members of the Jacksonville Common Laborers Union occupying the seats in the chamber when the session began, shortly before 7:30 o'clock. They presented a resolution for the adoption of the council, asking recognition of their union and the adoption of the 50c scale for all extra labor.

Alderman Charles Blesse moved the adoption of the resolution, striking out the clause calling for recognition of the union with the explanation that he was elected to represent both the union and non-union classes in the council. Alderman Williamson seconded the motion, and the resolution was adopted with seven votes in its favor, Alderman Mathews not voting.

Mr. Mathews explained that appropriations had been made up for this year, and that he did not see how the city could pay the advanced rate and still complete the work mapped out for the year. The city has been paying 30c and 35c and hour for extra labor. The resolution was as follows:

"We, the undersigned committee, hereby petition this body to pay the prevailing wage scale of 50c and hour for common labor on all extra improvement work which does not include regular maintenance work. Signed: H. E. Holmes, president, J. H. Chamberlain, John I. Mann, J. S. Green."

Property owners along South Clay avenue, from Morton to Superior, also presented a petition, said to have been signed by each of the owners, protesting the routing of traffic over South Clay during the reconstruction of the South Main street paving, arguing that they have paid for a pavement and that it is now in good condition.

The council answered this petition by going on record with a promise to give South Clay "the same attention as other state bond issue roads," with an unanimous vote. An uniform scale for breaking into pavements put down in the city also was adopted in order to provide property owners with an opportunity to figure costs before breaking the paving. The scale adopted was as follows:

Brick or Tarvia
Tapping main or caulking joint	2 feet by 3 feet .....
Halfway across street .....	$12.50
Across street .....	25.00
Asphalt or Concrete
Tapping main or caulking joint .....	$17.50
Halfway across street .....	35.00
Across street .....	50.00

H. S. DEBATE TEAM ENTERTAINS CLUB HERE LAST NIGHT

Lions Hear Arguments of School Debaters At Meeting

A debate on the question, "Resolved that the United States should adopt the essential features of the British system of radio control and operation," was given for the members of the Lions club last evening by the members of the champion debate teams of the local high school under the direction of Harold Gibson, debate coach.

Doris Michael, opening the arguments for the affirmative side of the question presented the following six points favoring the adoption of the English system: 42 million dollars would be received each year through $2.50 license fee charged for every receiving set in use; 25 million dollars would be raised from sponsored programs; five million dollars could be had from literature; a high grade educational program, both for adults and children, would be broadcast; the unified system would be placed in charge of a board of directors appointed by the President, with not more than three to come from any one political party; and the elimination of stations whose power is below 1,000 watts.

The opposition of the affirmative to the present plan of operation was given by Miss Michael as follows: control by large utility groups, which limits the freedom of speech; and the harmful, vicious, and sometimes false advertising which fills the air channels.

Edward Johnston, speaking for the negative, gave three main reasons why the foreign system should not be introduced here: the present system in the U. S. is the most satisfactory of all the systems in the world; a few minor changes would be made in the present system eliminating the lesser evils; and the British system is not practical and can't be financed in this country successfully.

The negative speaker pointed out that the two major chains can not unite under our laws. He also proposed that laws be passed to bar all bad and undesirable advertising, thin out the weak stations, and set aside, by legislation, a special period for educational broadcasts. He also pointed out that should a receiving set require a listener's license, about 20 per cent of the revenue would be lost through evasion.

William Clark gave the rebuttal for the affirmative and pointed out how the negative proposals were nearly identical with the plans set forth by the affirmative. He pointed out that the sponsors would require the best hours and that the negative's proposal for educational features under the present system would not be successful.

Robert Fay presented the rebuttal for the negative and pointed out that the adoption of the British plan would not provide sufficient coverage for the rural sections and sections where there are only scattered stations; that there would be a huge deficit in the maintenance costs, and that politics would enter into the management with the result that freedom of speech would be lost.

The debate was a non-decision affair. Mary Butler, also a member of the debate squad, was present.

VIVID PORTRAYAL OF MODERN LIFE IN JOURNAL STORY
"I Take This Woman" By Allene Corliss, Begins In Today's Paper

The disillusion which characterized the new generation when it began to come into its own is rapidly disappearing and is being replaced by a "Carry On" philosophy blending the new ideas of life with the old, according to Allene Corliss, noted novelist, in a recent New York interview. Miss Corliss said, "that the new generation should seek new ideas of life and new standards of behavior as that it should return to the old."

The celebrated writer, whose novel of modern marriage, "I Take This Woman" which begins today in the Journal, is thoroughly qualified to speak for and about the new generation. She knows the men and women of this generation as well as anyone in the land, and writes about them with a sympathy, knowledge and understanding that makes her one of the leaders among the novelists of today.

"But while the present generation," Miss Corliss added in her interview, "was unwilling to accept without question the standards laid down by the past generation and looked with doubt and cynicism upon its codes and methods, it discovered after many tests and experiments that there were things—many things—about the old standards which it would be a fatal mistake to discard merely because they were old."

"And back to the old new generation is traveling, but only to blend the ideas of the past generation with the ideas and codes which were born with the new."

In "I Take This Woman" Miss Corliss, with great deftness and skill, tells how lovely Stanley Paige swept through New York's younger smart set, began to mingle with the old and whirlwind infatuation. She decided that if that was life and love she was through. She married—with the typical disillusion of her generation.

Then something new took hold of her life—something that never had been present in all her modern background. Miss Corliss' vivid picture of Stanley Paige is an excellent, lifelike description of the modern girl and her struggle with the new ideas and the old. Begin this thrilling story in today's Journal, and be sure and follow each interesting instalment.

WESTMINSTER CHOIR TO GIVE VESPER PROGRAM

Musicians To Give Special Numbers Here Sunday Afternoon

A vesper program of liturgical music will be presented by the Westminster choir at the church on Sunday afternoon, April 29, at 4:30. The public is invited to attend this service.

The numbers to be offered are selected from the works of various composers, the high point of interest being reached in four parts of the Mozart Requiem Mass. This great, but not generally familiar work, is thought by many critics to be Mozart's masterpiece. It was his last composition, written under stress of poverty and illness, and persistent premonitions of death caused him to say that this would be his own requiem. The vivacious character of his earlier compositions is not present, but in its place there are richer harmonies, greater maturity, and an emotional depth that make one wonder what Mozart might not have achieved if he had been granted the "thirty score years and ten."

The playing of the "Kol Nidrei" of Bruch will continue the liturgical idea. In this magnificent violin solo the composer has used two Hebrew themes connected with the annual day of atonement. The first theme, the confession, is said to date from the time of Moses. The second, the theme of forgiveness, is of later origin. Bruch has supplied rich but appropriate accompaniment to these themes, which are still after many centuries a noble expression of religious fervor.

The choir has been working for two years past under the direction of Miss Ainslie Moore. Mrs. Edgar Martin is the organist, and on this occasion the chorus will be assisted by Miss Louise Turner, pianist, and Mrs. Clara Moore Neils, violinist. Rev. W. C. Meeker, pastor of the church, will preside.

The members of the choir are: Katherine Barr, Lorna Carpenter, Rosemary Coultas, Katherine Moore Kamm, Ainslie Moore, Clara Moore Neils, Helen Russell, Cornelia Woods, H. B. Kamm, Clarence Massey, John May, John Moore, George E. Moore, Eldred Robertson and John H. Russell, Jr.
